Interview with Veronika Oslancová - HR Director, Secop Slovakia

What is your job in Secop and since when?

I have been working for Secop since November 2021 as the HR Director.

How do you feel about working at Secop?

Working for Secop gives me a real opportunity to work in a global company with great colleagues not only in Slovakia but across the world. I really enjoy the cooperation and the different opportunities and challenges we face together as one team.

How do you balance work and personal life?

Well, I need to be disciplined (laughing). But the best way for me is to find a balance between work, family, and sports. I love doing sports. I used to prefer running and yoga, and two years ago I started playing golf. It's the only way I can refresh my body and mind to come back to work with more energy.

What advice would you give to women at work?

I think we as women have a lot of power that we can share around us. It's not only the deep understanding of business but also the natural ability to build a positive and supportive environment around us. To do things differently and evaluate situations from different angles. Support others with kind words and a smile.
